

I view the current ban on cross-ownership to be the proper way to encourage effective, critical journalism. Rescinding the ban would not be in my interest, nor would it be in the interests of most citizens. I do not support any weakening of the current ban.